My name is Bonnie Bowles, a full-time Angel Fire resident and the only female full-time attorney in Angel Fire. I'm licensed in both New Mexico and Texas practicing litigation, family law, and estate planning. After growing up in Fort Worth, I graduated from Colgate University and University of Texas at Austin School of Law. I was a plaintiff's litigation attorney in Houston and worked at law firms in South Carolina and New York City. I arrived in Angel Fire in May 2008 and married Tom Bowles, the chef and owner of The Roasted Clove, last summer.

As a committed long-term resident, I serve on the Angel Fire Community Foundation Board and am a member of Angel Fire Chamber of Commerce. I would like to use my accounting, communications, and presentation skills to serve on the Finance and Communications committees. My legal background can be an asset when dealing with Board issues and interfacing with the AAFPO attorney. As a Director, I hope to see more advanced use of electronic communication and social media to increase AAFPO's visibility.

I look forward to serving the AAFPO Membership and seek your vote.
